

Radboudumc masterprize

Each year there is the possibility to nominate students for a Radboudumc masterprize.

There is a University Studyprize of € 1,000 available (one price for the whole Radboudumc) and per discipline a price of € 350 (Biomedical Sciences, Medicine, Molecular Mechanisms of Disease and Dentistry).

This prize is intended for students of the Radboudumc who have distinguished themselves during their internship with a particularly good performance. The thesis with reporting and evaluation are completed before September 1.

The criteria for master's theses of research are as follows:

1. The thesis is / will be converted to an - international - scientific article.
2. The thesis is proven scientifically relevant and could possibly lead to further research or a PhD position.

These criteria also apply to theses of students who attend a two-year program.

For the nomination is required:

- An electronic PDF version of the report and one printed copy.
- A letter of recommendation, explaining what distinguishes the student and which contribution to the research was the students', the length of the internship and the end date, when there is a publication the date of submission must be added.

The selection is done in February by the committee with chairman Prof. Joost Drenth and secretary Rosanne Kanis. Nominations must be sent before February 1 by e-mail to Rosanne.Kanis@radboudumc.nl

The committee will also select a medical student with a successful research internship abroad, to nominate for the Professor Chris Gipsrijns.
