About

Are you planning to use the Flow Cytometry technology for your research? Would you like to learn more about different approaches and get some tips and tricks? Are you already working with this method, and do you experience some difficulties?

This “Meet the Expert” session will allow you to address your questions in an informal setting with two expert colleagues: Rob Woestenenk and Tjitske Duiveman-de Boer, in order to help you to start using the technique or to tackle your technical problems.

The session will be divided into a beginner group and an advanced group. Please mention which group you belong to when registering.
