

Meet the Expert

Twitter for dummies (or scientists)

Thijs Eijsvogels

When & where

Thursday 27 May 13:00 – 14:30 hrs.
Online meeting

Registration required via www.rimls.nl/agenda

About

The use of Twitter is increasingly common among scientists and journals. But where do you start and how?

In this workshop we will talk about the do's and don'ts of Twitter. Why should you start using it? Why do other scientists and journals use it? What is the Twitter dictionary? How do you post your first Tweet? How to gain followers? And who should you follow? And why?

After this interactive workshop, you are ready to share your science with the rest of the world!

For future data of “Meet the Expert” see our website